

SOLD THE OLD TOMBSTONE.

Descendant of Rev. Sylvanus White
Makes a Queer Bargain with Church Trustees.

A PRICE ON HIS ANCESTOR'S GRAVE.

It Had Been an Interesting Spot in the Southampton Town Burying-Ground for Over a Century.

SOUTHAMPTON, March 20.—The announcement was made here a few days ago that a descendant of Rev. Sylvanus White had quit-claimed his right and title to the grave and grave-stone of his illustrious ancestor to the trustees of the Presbyterian Church. The consideration was $50, good and lawful money in hand paid.

THE STONE THAT WAS QUIT-CLAIMED.
The burying-ground in which rests the remains of the ancient preacher is one of the most interesting spots in Southampton town. It is the resting place of many of the town's most illustrious dead. Many of the stones still standing bear date going back to 1682.

A few years ago the burying-ground was claimed as the personal property of a resident here. He had little regard for the graves, and turned his horses, cows and sheep loose in the inclosure. As a result graves were broken and monuments trampled down. The late Capt. White was at the time President of the Board of Town Trustees. He claimed the cemetery was the property of the town, and carried the question of title to the courts, and after a long fight won. Since then the inclosure has not been used as a pasture.

The north end of the burial ground was first used in 1721. An old stone still stands, bearing this inscription: "Here lies Ye Body of Joseph Post, Deceased, 10 November, Aged about 72, 1721. Post, Joseph, the First Elder of this Place."
The monument erected to the memory of Rev. Sylvanus White, who died Oct. 27, 1782, is the most prominent in the inclosure. Denominations of the most important persons. At the time of his death he was seventy-five years old, and had been for many years in charge of the parish. The epitaph on the stone is: "Remember them who have spoken words in the Lord. He is named as one of the remarkable preachers during the first century of the country's history. He was a graduate of Harvard.

Near by the grave of the old preacher's wife. She is referred to as his "Venerable Counterpart." She died in 1783, seventy-nine years old.

The records of the town contain frequent references to Pastor White, who seems to have exercised great influence among his people. When he died his children, Mr. White was the actual pastor of the parish. According

The Old Reliable.

Disease is an effect, not a cause. Its origin is within its manifestations without. Hence, to cure the disease the cause must be removed, and in no other way can a cure be effected. Warner's SAFE CURE is established on just this principle. It realizes that of all diseases arise from deranged Kidneys and Liver, and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon these greater organs, both as a food and restorer, and by placing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and pain from the system.

For the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing Disorders of Women; for all Nervous Affections, and physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Its past record is a guarantee of continued performance. H. H. WARNER & CO., London, Rochester, Melbourne, Frankfurt, Toronto, Paris.

to the town records, on May 27, 1893, Pastor White was voted fifteen acres of land. The preacher's wife was always in the people. He exercised a sort of censorship upon their reading. It is said of him that on one occasion he carried a new book going the rounds, tearing the suspicious title. "The Devil on Two Sticks," threatened to have them moved unless the trustees bought them. Rather than have the remains of the man whose memory is still revered here disturbed the purchase was made.

Many of Pastor White's descendants have been illustrious as doctors, ministers and statesmen. The particular descendant who was interested in this sale claimed a property interest in the tomb and stone, and, it is alleged, threatened to have them moved unless the trustees bought them. Rather than have the remains of the man whose memory is still revered here disturbed the purchase was made.

RICHARD GOLDEN IN BELLEVUE.
The Comedian Had the James Jams and Disappeared for Days.

Richard Golden, the comedian, who is featured as a solo star with Pauline Hall in the "Princess of Tricouville," now being played at Harrigan's Theatre, was taken to Bellevue Hospital yesterday suffering with alcoholism. He disappeared suddenly and mysteriously from his hotel, the Imperial, and his usual haunts Thursday, after reporting at the theatre for his performance.

Since then he has been spending barrels of money in looking upon the wine while it was in the various cases. An uncle died and left him a legacy of $50,000 a year ago, Sunday night he drifted into the city house. There he told a thrilling tale of a narrowly averted tragedy. He was running Broadway, he said, and barely missed running into and killing two horses, which were passing.

After a consultation it was determined to place him in the hospital, where the snakes could get at him. Golden took a look at Keefe some months ago. He was starved in jail Friday night, 1892, and is a clever comedian on the Joshua Whitcomb order.

"COUNT VON VOLTER'S" LOVE LETTER.
Frederick Landmeyer, of No. 210 Second street, Hoboken, received a letter a few days ago informing him that his wife corresponded with Carl Guttmann, a young German who assumed the name of Count von Volter.

Guttmann came from Germany about a year ago, and boarded with Mr. Stener at No. 52 River street. Mr. and Mrs. Landmeyer were frequent visitors at Mr. Stener's home. Guttmann was introduced to Mrs. Landmeyer. A stormy scene took place in the Justice's office. Landmeyer demanded a warrant for Guttmann's arrest. He declared he would never live with his wife again. He will apply for a divorce. Guttmann could not be found yesterday. When he learned that Landmeyer sought a warrant for his arrest he left his boarding-house, and is thought to be now living in New York.

Then Landmeyer upbraided his wife and threatened to shoot her. She denied the accusation, and when confronted with the letter, professed to know nothing about it. She went to Justice of the Peace Ruch for advice. Justice Ruch sent for Landmeyer. A stormy scene took place in the Justice's office. Landmeyer demanded a warrant for Guttmann's arrest. He declared he would never live with his wife again. He will apply for a divorce. Guttmann could not be found yesterday. When he learned that Landmeyer sought a warrant for his arrest he left his boarding-house, and is thought to be now living in New York.

Whistle, all for 1.35
Hoboken, N. J.
Darling Annie: When I called at your home Thursday I found the door locked. Your husband was not home. I heard the canary singing. Dear Annie, how I envy him. I thank you for the many happy hours you have given me. I will love you forever. May luck always hover with us both. Yours forever and forever,
